

WARE

ROME FALLS

Unfolding The Stone

[The Crying Philosopher]

All flows, all flows.
Nothing is permanent, all is transient.
Man as God's brother,
Higher than Angels it seems.
Not fallen but divine,
So why is perfection so distant?
If luminous beings then why,
Why do we not appear?
Before each other radiant,
Radiant in our illumination.
All flows, all flows.

[The Alchemist]

Alchemy,
The redemption of spirit from matter.
Meaning that vibrates behind perception,
Fate overcome through magic.
Nigredo,
The inevitable dark night of the soul,
Chaos as ever, is welcomed.
The pre-condition for redemption.
Cauda Pavonis,
Colours play on the surface.
Alchemical hope must be forged,
Heavier challenges lie ahead.

WARE

ROME FALLS

Albedo,

The new beginning is possible,
The possible becomes the probable.
It becomes inevitable that miracles can happen.

[The Universe]

An engine for the production of novelty,
Alchemical furnace of being,
Coalescing in the moment,
Fate overcome through magic.
Imagination has power,
Boot-strap to higher levels.
Depth can be reached in no time at all.
If the elevator shaft can be found.
The mind conjures miracles from time,
Everything is alive.
Let the monkeys speak, build fire, bring forth tools,
Show commitment and obstacles will be removed.

The emergence of life from all that preceded it,
As dramatic a miracle as anyone could imagine.
The emergence of language from mute bestiality,
As dramatic a miracle as anyone could imagine.
The emergence of a planet unified by electricity,
As dramatic a miracle as anyone could imagine.

The macrocosm, the microcosm,
The world truly is fractal.
It is irrational to not be filled,
With the fire of consuming hope.

WARE

ROME FALLS

[The Peacock's Tail]

Always have we been in the grip,
Of that iridescent strange attractor.
The Peacock's Tail grows daily.
Whiter, brilliant, more radiant.
We sense it, breaking into our dreams,
Breaking into our waking lives.

[The End Of History]

We are privileged,
We put it all together.
Together in one piece.

Stand ready at the end of history.
Ready to enter the mystery.
We will be completed.

All flows, all flows.
Nothing is permanent, all is transient.